The Moon covered the face of the Sun and the Sun's corona emerged – a magnificent vista: the radiant appearance of the great “light aura” of our star at the heart of our solar system.

Featuring observation of the total solar eclipse, August 21, 2017.

Witnessing a total solar eclipse is one of the most profound experiences that one can have in this life upon our planet Earth. —Robert Powell

When there is an eclipse of the Sun, something quite different takes place during the changed circumstances on that part of the Earth upon which the solar eclipse takes effect, something very different than when a solar eclipse is not taking place. If we know that when the Sun's rays shine upon us will forces stream up toward the Sun, then we can imagine how an eclipse of the Sun can have a definite influence upon the streaming of the will, which is something spiritual. The Moon intercepts the rays of light coming from the Sun; this is the physical aspect. The streaming of the will up from the Earth is not held back by the physical matter of the Moon; it streams into the darkness of the eclipse. This is a moment in time, even if only brief, during which earthly will forces stream out into cosmic space in a different way than when there is no solar eclipse.

A Chalice in the Heavens in our Time: The 2017 Solar Eclipse and the Cross of Light

The program will begin with dinner on Friday, August 18—three days before the solar eclipse. Dinner will be followed by an opening conversation. Saturday and Sunday will be filled with Sacred Dance, Singing, presentations by Estelle Isaacson and Karen Rivers, outings to special sites, evening Sophia Grail Circles: The Liturgy to the Etheric Christ and the Seven Last Words from the Cross, and star gazing, all in preparation for the Eclipse. Monday morning we will drive to the midline of the eclipse to view it in its totality, offering prayers and meditations for the Earth and our World condition. The program will end Monday evening. Departure will be after breakfast on Tuesday morning, Aug. 22.

On the day of the eclipse, the Moon will remember the Raising of Lazarus (Jul/26/32) as it comes into alignment with the star Eta Leonis in the constellation of Leo. The shadow side of the Moon will be turned toward the Sun, becoming for us a Grail chalice of the wisdom of transformation. During the solar eclipse we have the opportunity to courageously face our shadow self—to realize our soul's descent as the sacrifice of our being—so that through the light of the Christ Sun we may come to know our True Self more fully. This is the Grail journey. We may receive from the Holy Grail wisdom for our transformation, and for the transformation of the Earth! The Cross of Light that rays forth as the Sun emerges from the shadow of the Moon reflects the Cross of Christ shining in the heart of the redeemed Lucifer's radiance—devotion to redemption through love.
